Quote from The Unstoppable Force by Erwin McManus:

"The formerly revolutionary church soon became the community church; the community church must now once again become the revolutionary church. What seems radical must again become normal ... Those of us who live in this window of history must consider ourselves uniquely appointed by God. God would not allow us to live in a time of such great opportunity if He did not have on His heart the desire to pour out the greatest movement of His Spirit in human history. We must consider strategies for incremental or nominal growth as inadequate, and we must re-examine our assumptions of how the Spirit of God desires to work through the church. We must not be satisfied until we enter into an explosion of spiritual transformation that matches the challenge that has been entrusted to us."
